FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Associated Chamber Music Players (ACMP) appoints Jennifer Clarke as Executive Director

October 28, 2016—ACMP Associated Chamber Music Players announced today the appointment of Jennifer Clarke as Executive Director, effective November 1. Ms. Clarke has more than 30 years of experience in management of non-profit arts organizations, most recently as Managing Director of the New York City Arts in Education Roundtable. Organizations she has worked with include the Royal Festival Hall and London Sinfonietta in the UK, and Symphony Space, The Queens Museum, Chamber Music America, and the American Music Center in the U.S., among others. She has served on panels for the New York State Council on the Arts and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, where she also assisted on panelist placement for grant review panels as a consultant. She is also Founder and Executive Director of Melodia Women's Choir of New York City.

"We are thrilled to have Jennifer assume this leadership role for ACMP and look forward very much to working with her to raise awareness of, and expand membership in ACMP," said Janet White, Chair of ACMP's Board of Directors. "Her drive as an arts administrator combined with her passion for music makes her an ideal fit for the organization."

"I am truly excited to be joining an organization that creates opportunities for musicians at all levels and ages across the globe to play chamber music together and deepen their skills. I look forward to working with the Board to explore new initiatives and expand our grant making capacity and programs as we move toward the organization's 70th anniversary in 2017," said Jennifer.

ACMP ASSOCIATED CHAMBER MUSIC PLAYERS

ACMP (formerly Amateur Chamber Music Players) is a nonprofit organization that facilitates and expands opportunities to play chamber music for pleasure among musicians of all playing levels, worldwide. Since publishing its first member directory in 1950, ACMP has brought together thousands of musicians, fostering life-long friendships and connecting a global community. Since 1993, ACMP's affiliated Foundation has provided grants and awards totaling more than four million dollars to support educational activities for amateur adult and student chamber music players.
